

SAM'S SUDS

Some people think that it is fine
To have a daily glass of wine.
There're many others who refrain,
From alcohol that's made from grain.

There are some drinkers 'round about,
That will not touch a drink of stout.
And other rather careful folk,
Who only drink a pop or coke.

There are some people I recall,
Who say it spoils the alcohol,
When any drink you're trying to fix,
Calls for some water or some mix.

The people of teetotal ilk
Will tend to stay with tea or milk.
But mostly all the folks 'round here,
Prefer to have their daily beer.

It helps their mood and appetite
No matter if it's day or night,
In fact it's clear my friends all think,
Beer's much more than a breakfast drink.

One of my best employees and one of my best friends was Sam Schulz who worked with me as a first class driver for many years. Sam looked forward to enjoying a beer on Friday night with two of my other great drivers, Charlie Daly and Ron Lightfoot. Sam would leave the office at the end of the day on Friday with a goodbye and a smile, saying, "time for Sam to have some suds". This is dedicated to the three of them. They were a pleasure to work with and a pleasure to know.
